Cocktails from the Start

Old Fashioned 11

The Developed in the 1880's, this drink comes in an Old-Fashioned glass, which is how it earned its name. This cocktail has remained true to its roots through prohibition and is a must.

Old Forester Bourbon, Bitters, Sugar Cube, Orange Slice, Cherry

Sazerac 11

Receiving its name from the Sazerac de Forge et Fils brand of cognac, this New Orleans born cocktail is arguably the oldest "cocktail" around, showcasing a blend of flavors as sophisticated and unique as its birth place.

Sazerac Rye, Lucid Absinthe, Sugar Cube, Bitters, Lemon Twist

Gibson 10

While the Origin of this drink is unclear, one story of its birth is about an investment banker name Gibson. He would take his clients out for three-martini business lunches but ask the bartender to serve him straight chilled water, allowing him to remain sober. The cocktail onion garnish served to distinguish his beverage from those of his clients.

Dripping Springs Artisan Gin, Dry Vermouth, Cocktail Onion

Manhattan 12

Made with whiskey, sweet vermouth, and bitters, this drink originated in the borough of Manhattan in the 1870's. These simple yet delicious ingredients create a tribute to the city it's named after.

Bulleit Rye Bourbon, Bitters, Dry and Sweet Vermouth, Port Cherry

Negroni 10

Started in a little café in Florence Casoni around 1919, Count Camilo Negroni concocted the cocktail by asking the bartender to strengthen a traditional Americano by adding gin rather than the normal soda water. This drink is an aperitif and the perfect way to start your night.
